

We're here to help you, help them

Everyone knows a child's teacher is their most important academic influence.

Yet with increasing workloads and limited time, there are times when you can't always be there, like after-hours, late nights, weekends, holidays. That's when YourTutor can step in, providing the personalised, one-to-one study support that can help a student get back on track, and even come to class more confident and better prepared.

It's easily accessible for students and it's anonymous (so even the shy students can reach out to get help in their own time). YourTutor is also a lifesaver for parents who get overwhelmed by homework help as high school gets more complex. Most importantly, YourTutor and the online staff adhere to the highest ethical standards; which means students come to their own conclusions and must think critically about their own work. That's also why we're trusted by Australia's most respected education providers.

We are extremely proud to support you, your students, and your school community this year. We hope you'll join us in encouraging students to take advantage of the resource and sign in to YourTutor. Remember, it's free thanks to your school's commitment to supporting its community, even after the bell goes.

Your students sign in at: yourtutor.com.au/connect

YourTutor is personalised and on-demand

Now you can ensure your students are getting personalised support during homework and study time. They're able to take control of their learning - instead of giving up or skipping a question - and arrive in class more confident the next day.

Because every student learns at their own pace

"How does it work?"

The moment your students get 'stuck', need homework help, essay feedback, or revision support, they can connect online in seconds to an expert who can help. Every unique enquiry is handled using a tailored learning style to suit each individual student, with reporting on real learning outcomes back to the school. YourTutor is also great for parents and families (because sometimes, study can be stressful for the whole household).

"Who are the online tutors?"

Our tutors are a stringently managed network of teachers, university academics, and other subject-experts, recruited on Australian education standards. All must pass extensive screening and qualification checks and undergo continuous training to be accepted into our network. YourTutor's dedicated Quality Assurance team perform regular reviews and mentoring to ensure our very high average student session rating is continuously upheld.

With tightly held ethical standards and policies, teachers and parents are assured that the help students receive is contributing to their capability to think for themselves - we employ constructivist learning techniques, and a strict 'no answers' policy.

"What subjects are supported?"

All core curricula subjects. Students studying history or other humanities subjects can get help by selecting 'Research' or 'Writing feedback' depending on their question, even though 'History' is not visible. English, maths, and the sciences are specifically covered from Year 3 through to advanced Year 12.

"How can 'YourTutor' help me?"

As an educator, you know that learning is best cemented through practical application of a concept, in a meaningful - and timely - way. Students who use YourTutor to reinforce or refresh what they learn in class are better prepared for your next class, come to school with a deeper understanding of the concepts, and have more confidence in their own abilities, too.

A 2016 survey found that 89% of high school students "feel better about doing homework and study", after using YourTutor. So you can help students become more confident with their studies simply by reminding them that they can get study help after hours.

More information for teachers: yourtutor.edu.au/schoolstaff